

GUSHAINI – THE NEW YEAR'S HIGH

What is it? A CWH way to bring in the Year 2011.

Where? Gushaini village. Tirthan valley. Great Himalayan national Park. Himachal.

How? Fly into Chandigarh or Kullu on 29th Dec. Drive to Gushaini. Back on 2nd Jan 2011.

How much? Rs 16000/- per person excluding air/train tickets.

In the unspoilt valley of Tirthan, on the eastern periphery of the Great Himalayan national park, lies the tiny hamlet of Gushaini. After the small matter of driving through stunningly pretty roads and sitting in a basket as you are hauled across the river, one reaches a home away from home. Raju and his wife run this homestay, which manages to blend the authentic with the luxurious like very few places in the Himalaya. Some short walks around, a bit of yoga and a lot of time just chilling and eating the home cooked meals.
